

Fairfax County Police Department's
75th Anniversary Lecture Series
2015

Did you know that the Fairfax County Police Department was created on July 1, 1940, by acts of the General Assembly on recommendations from Sheriff Eppa Kirby? Carl R. McIntosh was designated the first Chief of Police. His Department consisted of five newly sworn officers. The officers were: Traffic Sergeant Lewis M. Finks, Detective Sergeant Henry T. Magarity and Officers James Mahoney, Alton Poole and James Dodson.

Interested in learning more about the Department's creation and evolution from a 5-person organization to a nationally renowned Department of over 1700? Throughout 2015, the Police Department will host a series of lectures as part of the events which will celebrate the Department's Seventy-fifth (75th) Anniversary. These lectures are meant to demonstrate the Department's evolution throughout its' seventy-five year history. Chief Roessler invites and encourages you, and your family, to attend the lecture series to learn about this historical transformation along with meeting some of our great retirees.

The first lecture will be held on Friday, January 23, 2015. This will be a guided tour of the Department's Museum located in the first floor of the Massey Building (4100 Chain Bridge Road). Retirees will be giving an in-depth presentation on the various historical displays in the museum. The January 23, 2015, lecture starts at 1 pm. Mark your calendar and visit this first lecture, or any other listed below. To register for any of the events, follow the Eventbrite link listed underneath each lecture. This allows us to communicate any schedule or venue changes. Thank you.*
